THE VISION

More Than a Pageant.

The Miss Creole Queen Pageant is the first cultural pageant dedicated to honoring Louisiana Creole women — their identity, heritage, and presence.

This is not a beauty contest. It is a cultural platform where legacy, excellence, and community converge.

September 26, 2026 at the Acadiana Center for the Arts — one of the region's most prestigious cultural venues.

Louisiana Creole Culture

Presented by Louisiana Creole Culture — a cultural organization with over a decade of community events, programming, and statewide reach. LCC brings established credibility and an engaged audience to every initiative it launches.

THE CROWN

A Crown That Carries Culture

The Miss Creole Queen crown is a one-of-a-kind work of art — custom designed and handcrafted by master jeweler John Griffin of Rhode Island.

Every detail is intentional. Every stone placed with purpose. This crown was made for this moment, this culture, and this legacy.

Custom designed. Handcrafted. One of one.
